

Causal language should rise only with design strength

Higher tiers reduce specific alternative explanations; none makes every bias disappear

