

Triangulation is convergence across independent bias structures

Repeating the same observational design does not create a new evidence tier

Different biases should point to the same bounded conclusion

