

Distance-decay differs across wetland regions

Bray-Curtis similarity regressed on Haversine distance within each region

Pairwise points are not independent; slopes are effect-size descriptions and permutation evidence is reported separately.